The Hungry Squirrel

A hungry squirrel woke up in his tree. His tummy rumbled. He needed breakfast. He scampered down the trunk and sniffed the ground. He found an acorn under the leaves. Crunch, crunch! It was tasty. Then he found two more acorns near the fence. He ate one and saved one for later. He buried the last acorn under the big rock. Now I have lunch too, he said. The squirrel climbed back up to his cozy nest. He curled up for a nap with a full, happy tummy.
